'COMPETITION IS HARMFUL'

Declares Sherman Antitrust Law Unfit; Combinations
of Capital Necessary

L. M. Bowers of Denver, chairman of the executive committee of the Colorado Fuel & Iron Co., in an address before the Winter Night club at the Antlers hotel last night, characterized as disgraceful the present investigation of the bankers by a congressional committee at Washington, and added that if there are lawyers in Colorado Springs of the same standing as Samuel Undermyer, the counsel for the committee, he pitied the citizens of this town. Bowers attacked the system of competition which the Sherman antitrust law would enforce, cited the many alleged evil effects of this competition, and said that the law fits modern business conditions about as well as does a "petticoat a stovepipe hat."

He went on to say that modern business would be impossible without combinations of capital, and that to restore absolute competition would put the country back 50 or 60 years, to restricted trade and to poorer accommodations. He attributed the higher cost of living as due, not to politics or the tariff, but to the increase in the price of land and of labor and of the interest on both. He upheld the interstate commerce commission as being a good institution.

Arraigis L. W. W.
The speaker stated that if he understood "correctly" the program of the Industrial Workers of the World, as illustrated in the Lawrence and Susquehanna strikes, is to paralyze all industry if their demands are not met; to take money if they become destitute in strikes, to fight if necessary, killing all opposition leaders, "The organization is to have a terrible future, and the country is close to trouble."

The meeting of the Winter Night club, which was held in the large dining room of the Antlers hotel, was well attended. Prof. M. C. Gile of Colorado college, president of the club, presided, and paid a high tribute to the career of the speaker, who began as a farmer's boy and fought his way up to his present position.

Mr. Bowers spoke on "Practical Business Questions," taking as the outline of his talk a score of questions which had been submitted to him in advance by local people. He expressed his appreciation of the happy choice of the name of the club, and continued in part:

PRES. TAFT APPOINTS BOARD ON AIRCRAFT

Will Study Aero-Dynamics From Standpoint of Science

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—A long step in the direction of securing more scientific information for use in the construction of aircraft was taken today when President Taft appointed a commission on aero-dynamical laboratory, of which Dr. R. S. Woodward, president of the Carnegie Institute of Washington, is named as chairman. The object of the commission, which was created upon the recommendation of Secretary Meyer, will be to report on the necessity or desirability for the establishment of a naval aero-dynamical laboratory, its scope, organization, the most suitable location for it and the cost of its installation.

In his letter to the president recommending the appointment of the commission, Secretary Meyer said:

"The construction of aircraft among the powers of Europe is now based largely on scientific information obtained at their aero-dynamical laboratories and the installation of such a plant in this country is regarded as necessary to our commercial interests and the production of safety and efficiency in our aircraft."

In his annual report Rear Admiral Andrews, chief of the bureau of navigation of the navy department, pointed out that through the delay in establishing laboratories in the United States there had resulted a waste of time and money and a decline of prestige and unnecessary sacrifice of life.

This state of affairs obtains in some extent in the United States today, although European aeroplane construction is now largely based on scientific data obtained at notable aero-dynamical laboratories.

WILSON STUDIES TRUST MEASURES

ROOSEVELT FURNISHED
THE INC.

Will Take Up Trust Legislation
in Message to New Jersey Legislature

FRENTON N. J., Dec. 19.—President-elect Wilson pored studiously for several hours here today over the corporation laws of New Jersey with a view of recommending radical changes in them to the legislature.

After he had worked most of the day in his capacity as governor he listened to a formal appeal by United States Senator Overman of North Carolina that Josephus Daniels, national committeeman from that state for nearly 20 years, be appointed postmaster general in the Wilson cabinet. The president-elect made no comment. He announced also that he would meet William J. Bryan for the first time since election in Saturday or Sunday.

The governor's day was concentrated for the most part on the corporation question.

Heads Roosevelt Charges

Repeated charges were made during the national campaign by Colonel Roosevelt and Governor Hiram Johnson that Mr. Wilson had failed to put into effect any legislation curbing trusts that were chartered as New Jersey corporations. Though his opponents devoted many speeches to this argument Mr. Wilson never made a speech of reply. Once he telegraphed briefly to Senator Overman of New York an answer that was made public, in which he declared that, as the state legislature always had been "Republican in one or both branches, he had been unable to put forth his promised program of reform. He added also that evils complained of in connection with the trusts mostly concerned federal jurisdiction.

The governor took no further cognizance of the question during the campaign, telling his friends, however, that he always had intended reform, and would begin it if he could get a legislature that was Democratic in both branches. His wish being fulfilled the governor started to work in earnest today, calling to his aid Edwin Walker, chancellor of the state, and Judge Bennett Van Syckel, formerly of the State school. These men, with Governor or Wilson, will draft the new legislation.

On national politics the president-elect was reticent. He had nothing to say about his approaching visit with Mr. Bryan and in recounting the events of the day passed quickly over the mention of cabinet appointments. "Senator Overman came with a generous lot of representations in support of Mr. Daniels for the postmaster generalship," said the governor, and added abruptly "Then Sam Gordon cut my hair."

Gordon is the governor's messenger at the state house, who has acted hitherto as New Jersey's governor for a score of years.

The name of Mr. Daniels urged for the postmaster generalship is the first that is definitely known as having been considered by Mr. Wilson for any cabinet office. Though Mr. Daniels was close to the governor throughout the campaign having been chairman of the campaign committee on publicity he has not seen the governor since.

DENVER, Dec. 19.—Investigation of a report that a well-laid plot to dynamite the Denver mint and rob it of its contents of almost $500,000,000 had been discovered, brought out the fact that all reference to blowing up the building was made by a person whose mind is evidently unbalanced.

Three weeks ago a letter was sent through the mails, written in Denver, addressed "Public Comfort Station, Denver." The postman delivered it to the janitor at the station, and he, after reading it, turned it over to Chief of Police Neil. The writer suggested that since there are persons in Denver out of work, and many who have little money, it was not just to hoard a vast amount of gold and silver in the mint.

It was his idea that a great charge of dynamite should be placed under the building and the $500,000,000 in coin and bullion be scattered all over the city, so everyone could help himself.

The police turned the letter over to the federal authorities, who have forwarded it to Washington.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Director of the Mint Roberts is not seriously disturbed over the plot to blow up the Denver mint with dynamite.

The plans of the proposed plot were received by Mr. Roberts some time ago. It did not show how the plot was to be carried out Mr. Roberts said, and looked to him a good deal like a scheme to create a sensation.

After he had scrutinized the plans carefully, Mr. Roberts advised the superintendent of the Denver mint to take special precautions.

"ALL MONEY IN WORLD NOT GIVE MONOPOLY"

J. Pierpont Morgan Declares Control of Currency Is Impossible;
Financier Gives Graphic Relation of High Finance
Before House Money Trust Investigators

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19. J. P. Morgan today told the money trust investigating committee of the house that "all the money in christendom and all the banks in christendom," could not form a monopoly that would control money.

For nearly five hours the chief witness called by the committee in its investigation of the intricacies of modern finance stood a running fire of questions that covered every phase of the financial operation.

In some respects it was one of the most remarkable hearings about the halls of congress in years, with Mr. Morgan as the physical embodiment of operations on a colossal scale and the committee's counsel, Samuel Undermyer, the representative of the element that seeks to probe to the innermost recesses the conditions under which vast financial operations are conducted.

CONGRESS SPLIT HAS NOT HEALED

TAFT'S MESSAGE GIVEN
COLD COMFORT

Both Branches Adjourn Over
Holiday Season Meet
Again Jan. 2

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Congress adjourned for the Christmas holidays today after some lively maneuvers to get President Taft's message into the record, to get action on the president's recent appointments and to bring up a bill in the Senate.

The message waited for four hours to secure entrance into the senate. It was not until the impeachment court adjourned, about 1 o'clock, that the president's message was received and read.

Both houses of congress adjourned to meet on Thursday, January 2. The senate confirmed but one appointment, that of John H. Brown, New Hampshire postmaster.

Senator Hoke Smith, acting for many Democrats, offered a resolution for the confirmation of army and navy appointments, but the Republican senators insisted on starting at the head of the list for the consideration of the postmasters.

Objections by Senator Hitchcock, Democrat, that the postoffice appointments had not received consideration by the senate membership of the postoffice committee, drew the declaration from Senator Lodge that if this point were forced it would be embarrassing throughout the administration of Woodrow Wilson. Senator Hitchcock finally withdrew his objection, but no action was taken on the other postoffice appointments.

PROGRESSIVES MEET FOR PARTY REORGANIZATION

NEW YORK, Dec. 19.—Important questions relating to the organization of the National Progressive party, were discussed at a session of the executive committee of the party, which continued until a late hour tonight. An adjournment was taken until tomorrow when sessions are expected to be held day and night.

There is nothing to be said for publication as to the business of the executive committee, said National Chairman Dixon, until it adjourns tomorrow night when it is expected plans will be in shape to be announced.

George W. Perkins is expected to be a member of the committee.

All members of the party are expected to be present.

At the close of the session, the members of the party were represented by proxies.

FIND BODIES OF DEAD AVIATORS

WERE SOON OVERTAKEN
BY DEATH

Ineffectual Attempts Made to Save Selves, Shown by Wearing Apparel

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 19.—The bodies of Horace Kearny, aviator and Chester Lawrence, newspaper man, finally given up by the sea in a life preserver, were found today in a little under a mile from Redondo Beach.

Ten hours after the bodies of the young reporter, battered almost beyond recognition by waves and rocks, was found on the precipitous coast near Rocky Point, that of his aviator companion was picked up by a fisherman by a searching party in charge of George W. Harrison, a skilled swimmer and close friend of the unfortunate pair.

Kearny's body was found entangled in a net and partially attached to a life preserver, the whole lot of which, glistening in the sunlight, attracted the searchers to the spot.

There was every indication that Kearny had not death soon after his hydro-aeroplane struck the water. The life preserver had not been buckled about him and he still wore the leather suit he had borrowed from Aviator Charles P. Willard for the King flight.

Death Soon Came.

His hands were gloved and clenched, and on one sparkled the diamond ring which in his will made the day before the ill-fated trip was begun. He had braced himself to his sweetheart Miss Louise McPherson, of Madisonville, Ky.

"Little doubt remains that the 'Snookums' and its passengers made the fatal drop within 15 minutes after it was last sighted last Saturday by watchers at San Pedro, disappearing into the haze beyond Point Fermin, which marks the entrance to Los Angeles harbor," Kearny and Lawrence could not have been more than five miles from shore when a treacherous air current or a defective engine dropped them to the water.

The relative condition of the bodies showed that Lawrence died last and that he made ineffectual attempts to relieve himself of his heavy wearing apparel in order to be better able to float with the heavy sea. A light jersey and a heavy sweater were pulled partly over his head showing that he had been drowned while trying to remove them. His watch stopped at 7 o'clock.

The bodies of the two aviators were found by a local fisherman.

INTERVENTION TO FOLLOW DELAY?

Constantinople Sends New Instructions to Aid in Negotiations

LONDON, Dec. 19.—The peace conference held a brief session today. The Balkan delegates announced that fresh instructions had been dispatched from Constantinople by special courier, and that the adjournment until Saturday was taken, by which time the instructions should reach London.

Newspapers from the Ottoman capital said that the government is empowered to the delegates to proceed with the negotiations with the Greeks as well as the Balkan plenipotentiaries. The conference is now exactly in the same position as in the previous conference after the first week's work. The defendant parties are dark feeling the way.

After sitting today, some of the Balkan delegates expressed disgust at the way affairs were dragging, while five armies and three besieged towns were enduring all the sufferings of war, and the respective countries were the prey of isolation, misery and death.

Delay Brooks Intervention.

The prevailing opinion is that the various arrangements are aiming at intervention by the powers. Turkey has a certain better terms through the powers and could consider it less humiliating to cede territory on pressure from them than at the command of the Balkan states, which were depicted to the Muscovite world as negligible quantities.

The Balkan delegates, especially the Serbians and Montenegrins, express disaffection with a statement issued by the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, the Italian foreign minister, concerning the aims of the new triple alliance, and remark that Italy has an unimpaired position in the Balkan states, having been given from nothing a small military force which the union of kingdoms they had expected her to support.

Greeks More Exacting.

These delegates point out that the Italian government has followed a policy of approach favorably to Austria by renewing the triple alliance seven months before its expiration.

The Greek proposals will be more complicated than those of the other allies because they include the question of capitulations, which Greece alone among the Balkan states enjoys in Turkey with the great powers. The capitulations originally imposed on Turkey by the republic of Genoa in 1261, include exemption from taxation for foreign subjects, special courts and other privileges. Greece is ready to accept a clause in the treaty with Turkey promising to renounce the right to capitulation when the other powers do the same.

"We'll March Until We Drop", Declare "Pilgrim" Leaders

FISHKILL, N. Y., Dec. 19.—It was two hours after dark and snowing when the suffragette army, which is on its way to Albany to deliver a message to Governor Sulzer, marched into this city.

Winding roads stretched 15 reputed miles into 22 and the four survivors of the band of 14 women which started from New York on Monday, humped in here at 7 o'clock tonight, scarcely able to drag their feet another step.

It was the first day of actual hardship, that the marchers have experienced, an up and down hill journey over muddy roads in rain and snow. The last six miles were made in pitch darkness, ankle deep in mud and in the face of a bitter northeaster. The footsore, weary women refused offers of a lift from two passing automobiles for they have vowed to travel the entire distance to Albany afoot.

Miss Rosalie G. Jones, leader of the expedition, who for two days has walked with painfully blistered feet, almost collapsed when she led her followers into the hotel where they stayed for the night.

"Will you go on tomorrow?" she was asked.

"We will march until we drop," replied the suffragette leader.

Miss Jones went immediately to bed. Tonight Mrs. Bessie Hardy Stiggs addressed a meeting of veteran firemen while Lavinia Doke, the fourth marcher, talked at a gathering of local suffragettes.

Great Canal, Returning
First of Year

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—President Taft left at 10:30 o'clock tonight, over the Atlantic Coast Line railway, for Key West Fla., to sail Saturday, on the dreadnought Arkansas for Colon.

After a three days' inspection of the canal, the president will return to Key West. He is due in Washington again December 31.

The president left, suffering from a slight but persistent cold. The trip south, it was believed, would cure it, although it already has shown signs of yielding to treatment. Before going aboard his private car, the president attended the cabinet dinner given by Secretary Knox.

Mrs. Taft, Charles Taft, their young son, Secretary and Mrs. Miles, Assistant Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Beekman Winthrop, Maj. Thomas L. Rhoads, U. S. A. and John N. Timmons, U. S. A., aides to the president; three secret service men and a White House stenographer comprised the party which will lead to the Arkansas.

Two railroad officials and half a dozen newspaper men, who accompanied the president, will be quartered on the battleship Delaware, designated to be an escort on the voyage to and from the isthmus.

En route to Key West, the president's train will stop at Jacksonville and Miami Fla. In Jacksonville the president will attend a reception and in Miami he will attend a reception and in Key West he will attend a reception.

PRES. TART DENIES PLAYING POLITICS

In Third Message to Congress,
He Defends Acts of His Administration

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—President Tart today gave congress his opinion of the charge that he had been playing politics in his recent executive order putting 36,000 fourth-class postmasters under the civil service. The president made the counter-charge that his accusers on the floor of the house were telling "untruths," and declared that he deeply regretted the failure of congress to pass legislation which practically would destroy the "spoils" system. "Criticism has been made of this order on the ground that the motive was political," said the president. "Nothing could be farther from the truth. The order was made before the election and in the interest of efficient public service. I have several times requested congress to give me authority to put first, second and third-class postmasters and all other local officers, including internal revenue officers, the customs officers, United States marshals and the local agents of the other departments under the classification of the civil service law by taking away the necessity of confirming such appointments by the senate. "I deeply regret the failure of congress to follow these recommendations. The change would have taken out of politics practically every local officer and would have entirely cured the evils growing out of what, under the present laws, must always remain a remnant of the spoils system."

Is Third Message.
The president's advice to congress was contained in his third message of the year, sent in today. It was devoted largely to a review of the accomplishments of several government departments not touched upon in previous messages and to recommendations for legislation. The president advocated:

Legislation which would permit members of the cabinet to sit in either house of congress, with the right to enter into debate and answer questions, but without a vote.

The adoption of the postmaster general's plan for a readjustment of compensation to railways carrying mails, especially in view of the conditions which will exist under the parcels post law.

A revision of the land laws to secure proper protection and at the same time assure prompt disposition of land that should be turned over to private ownership.

Legislation affecting Alaska which would provide for leases of coal lands and in respect to mining claims, the disposition of oil, phosphate and potash lands in the United States.

Favors Roosevelt Plan.
An act of congress that would legalize a court authorized to review decisions on the pure food law, such as are now made by the Remsen boards.

In this connection, the president approved the creation of the Remsen board by former President Roosevelt, but said the time had come for congress to recognize the necessity for a tribunal of appeal in pure food cases.

"While we are struggling to suppress an evil of great proportions like that of impure food," said the president, "we must provide the machinery in the law itself to prevent its becoming an instrument of oppression and we ought to enable those whose business is to investigate its annihilation to have some tribunal and some form of appeal in which they have a complete day in court."

The president closed his message with a recommendation that congress provide for a government building at the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco, and for the beautification of Washington.

In his discussion of the capital he said that a public utility commission was needed.

The president expressed opposition to the granting of the electric franchise to citizens of Washington and endorsed the plans of the commission of fine arts for city government.

RAILROADS ASK FOR COURT AID TO HELP DISSOLVE MERGER

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—A motion for a more specific decree in the Union Pacific merger dissolution was made in the supreme court today by Attorney General Wickersham. Chief Justice White stated formally that the court would take it under consideration.

The railroad attorneys explained to the court that they considered the only practicable method by which the stock could be distributed without irreparable injury would be for the Union Pacific company to offer it to its own shareholders, pro rata, according to the amount of their holdings, for purchase at a fair price, or to distribute it as a dividend to its stockholders entitled to a dividend. They declared that the attorney general was opposed to such a plan.

To refuse to allow the Union Pacific shareholders to participate in such a distribution, declared the attorneys in the papers they filed, would expose

Would Lose Money.

"The offering for sale upon the open market of the Union Pacific's holding of the Southern Pacific shares, aggregating $128,600,000, would not only inflict great injustice and irreparable damage upon the Union Pacific and its shareholders, but also would cause a serious financial disturbance by oversupplying the market demand for securities of this character and consequently depressing the price, not merely of the Southern Pacific's shares owned by the Union Pacific, but also of the shares of Southern Pacific held by others, and even of the securities of other corporations dealt in on the market during and for a long period after the offering of these Southern Pacific shares for sale.

Attorney General Wickersham filed a memorandum with the court in opposition to the railroad plan, attacking it as an "unwise restriction upon the power conferred upon the district court to dissolve the combination and prevent the removal. He expressed a willingness that the Union Pacific stockholders should be permitted to share in the distribution of the Southern Pacific stock with the Southern Pacific stockholders.

"The effect of a mere pro rata distribution of the stock among the Union Pacific stockholders," said Attorney General Wickersham, "is wholly impracticable. The stock lists afford but little clue to the real ownership. It is a well-known fact, which an inspection of the stock list confirms, that large amounts of stock stand in the names of banking and brokerage houses. It is true the stock is distributed among some 22,000 stockholders, but Mrs. E. H. Harriman, Kuhn, Loeb and company and the directors of the Union Pacific Railroad company (including the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company, represented on the board of directors by Mr. Marvin Hughitt) together hold $41,261,000 of its stock; 164 bankers and brokers each holding 1,000 shares or over $132,787,800."

FORMER INDIAN AGENT HAULED UPON CARPET

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—Robert G. Valentine, who recently resigned as commissioner of Indian affairs, was censured in a report today by the committee on expenditures in the interior department, after an investigation of charges against Mr. Valentine. The committee's report said that he deliberately violated the civil service laws.

The committee found that Mr. Valentine had caused improper expenditure of public funds precipitated the removal of the general superintendent of logging in the Indian service on false rumors, and was guilty of criminal violence of the law introducing and disposing of liquor on an Indian reservation. The report will be submitted to the house immediately after the holiday recess. The department of justice, after an investigation of some of the charges against the former commissioner, dismissed them.

THREE ARE UNDER ARREST FOR HOLDING UP STAGE

SILVER CITY, N. M., Dec. 19.—Following a sensational holdup of the Silver City-Mogollon stage, late yesterday afternoon, 15 miles from here, on a lonely mountain road, which resulted in an empty haul for the bandits, Deputy Sheriff Charles Harris of Mogollon, Charles White, a blacksmith of Glenwood, and John Higgins, a saloon keeper of Glenwood, are under arrest, charged with the robbery.

Thirty thousand books and pamphlets, two-thirds of which relate to electricity, have been recently added to the library of the Massachusetts School of Technology.

Demented Man Demands Hundred Million From Bishop of Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Dec. 19.—A man gaining admission to the residence of the Right Rev. John J. Hogan, Roman Catholic bishop of Kansas City, a demented man, demanded $100,000,000.
The man said his name was Patrick E.
Kelleher. He was admitted to the house by Rev. Francis J. Tietz, a priest, who invited him into the library.
Then making a pretense of summoning Bishop Hogan, the priest telephoned for the police.
Kelleher told the police he had intended to assassinate the bishop if his demand was refused. Kelleher recently was discharged from the general hospital, where he had been a patient for several weeks.

SUES FATHER TO GET HIS MOTHER'S ESTATE

ALBUQUERQUE, Dec. 19.—Grover
W. Harrison, a senior at Harvard university, with residence here, today filed suit in the district court asking for $187,000 from his father, Dr. George W. Harrison, which he alleges, is his share of his mother's estate. His mother was Miss Guadalupe Perez, member of a wealthy Spanish family.
She died intestate in 1889, leaving a large fortune.

Dr. Harrison in 1908 effected a settlement with his son, by which he received $10,000 in cash and a house in St.
Louis, Mo., valued at $12,000.
The son charges that his father practiced fraud in the settlement, and that he filed from time to time false reports of his administration of the estate of his deceased mother. The suit has caused a sensation. The brief in the case comprises hundreds of pages, the largest ever filed in a New Mexico court. The plaintiff is represented by New Mexico and Connecticut lawyers.

TOM RICHARDS AND WIFE
MAY BECOME RECONCILED

PITTSBURG, Pa., Dec. 19.—The love of domestic peace may again find a safe perch in the household of the Richards-Thomases, Richards of Colorado Springs, comic opera tenor and co-star of Lulu Glaser in vaudeville, and Mrs.
Martha Richards of Denver.

If it does, according to rumors growing out of recent developments in the Richards' matrimonial tangle here, there is a likelihood that the charge of desertion and nonsupport preferred against Richards by his wife and the $50,000 damage suit filed against Lulu Glaser by Mrs. Richards for alleged alienation of her husband's affections, will be dropped.

Richards' fatigued as much yesterday when he waived hearing on the desertion and nonsupport charge. He declared that there was no ground for the charges made against him and Lulu Glaser, that he was perfectly willing to support his wife, but that she never asked him to do so, and closed the discussion by letting it be understood that a reconciliation between himself and his wife may take place soon.

Several weeks ago, Miss Glaser was compelled to furnish bail for a hearing later.

Mrs. Richards instituted actions against her husband and Miss Glaser, the former comic opera queen, when she had come here from Denver. She makes her home with her aunt, Mrs.
Ralph Holbrook, at 3002 York street,
Denver, and according to her statement after her arrival in Pittsburgh, since her alleged desertion by her husband she has been compelled to support herself by singing in the Albany hotel in that city.

UNCLE SAM TO ASK
MEXICO TO PROTECT AMERICAN INTEREST

WASHINGTON, Dec. 19.—The unsatisfactory conditions existing in Mexico as a result of the continuance of the rebellion, absorbed much of the time of President Taft today. He had interviews with Secretary Knox and Henry Lane Wilson, the American ambassador to Mexico, and tonight the subject was further discussed at a dinner in the president's honor at Secretary Knox's home.

There is reason to believe that when the ambassador returns to Mexico next week he will bring with him instructions calculated to induce the Mexican government to renew its efforts to terminate the rebellion, or at least to enlarge the military forces which are supposed to be protecting the property of foreigners.

It is particularly stated by one of the participants in the conference that this is in no sense to be regarded as an ultimatum, or indeed as a note calculated to endanger friendly relations of the two governments.

But it is a fact that the response of the Mexican government to the note of Secretary Knox last September, calling attention to the need for more drastic measures to restore order along the border, was far from satisfactory to this government. It neither admitted the accuracy of the statements of the fact regarding the extent of these disorders and their effect upon American interests nor promised the necessary military measures to bring them to a speedy end.

Therefore, it is believed that the fresh instructions which Mr. Wilson has received will cause him to insist firmly upon the correction of these abuses, and his statements will be reinforced by accounts of recent happenings in the border provinces of Mexico, involving the burning of American railway property, the looting of mines and plantations, and the kidnapping for ransom of American mine managers and foremen.

SAYS PROBE OF BANKERS

agreed with me. I do not expect you all to agree with me tonight in the conclusions which I shall draw.

Says Competition Fatal.
"It has been asked me, 'Is it possible to conduct a business successfully on a basis of absolute integrity?'"
The general attitude which constantly brings out questions such as this is remarkable, for all business men are not necessarily crooked, nor must they be charged with sharp practices. It all comes from the old competitive system, which has been in vogue in this country since the Civil war.

Ninety per cent of the men who have been in business activity since then have failed because of this competitive system. Of 50 business men whom I knew 40 years ago, 47 have since failed. Because they have failed many of them have been called dishonest, and have often been ignored by church and state. This is unfair, for it is the crooks and the lunatics who have driven them out. The crooks have succeeded for a time, but no business can continue if it is not run honestly. No crook has handed down his fortune to his grandchildren, and not often even to his children.

"It is not necessary for a business corporation to meddle in politics, and none with which have been connected ever have in the 40 years of my business experience. One once contributed $50,000, but it got absolutely nothing out of it. I may contribute personally to a cause I think good, but all the politicians in Colorado will never get a cent out of a firm I am connected with.

What Is Needed Here
"The future of manufacturing in Colorado depends on your having raw material, power, cheap rent and capable people. So far as my company is concerned, there is plenty of raw material here for 100 years to come, but when it first came to Colorado, I found that wages and the cost of living were higher here, because living was so much higher. You charge 'watering-place' prices here, and the workers cannot live here so cheaply as they can elsewhere. If you have the four things I mentioned, you can have manufacturing; and if you haven't, you can't. And in representing the agricultural possibilities of Colorado to the eastern farmer and to the immigrant, we have sometimes enlarged on the truth.

"As to labor, you will find that,
where work is done by the piece, wages will depend on efficiency, where it is done by the day, wages will depend on production. The labor unions tend to reduce efficiency, for they put all workers on a level—they take the 'plum' and the 'fig' alike. I cannot suggest any better wages and conditions than be. With workers, the year's earnings is what counts. Take any group of them; when business is poor, the poorer ones are dropped. This dropping of the inferior workers, to some extent, equalizes conditions.

Dealing With Employees
"The wage earners have very little to say about the conduct of the business, but if they had, they would demand what is known as the efficiency movement. In hiring workers, deal with them directly, not through the labor unions. In case of a dispute, whom you deal with depends on the attitude taken. Personally, I receive in my office anyone desiring an audience, but in the final settlement, I always insist on treating with a committee from the men with the grievance.

"I have been asked as to the probable effects of the I. W. W. (which sometimes has been paraphrased as 'I Won't Work') on industry. The Industrial Workers of the World organization was started by a literary anarchist in France, and now is said to embrace 50,000 men in England, France and Germany. The American organization is built on lines similar to those in Europe. Its plans to gain control of industry first came out in a coal strike in England and Wales. As I understand it, if I am informed correctly, they would gain control by paralyzing all industry. Coal is one of the best whips, for it hits everywhere.

leads to failures, and is more destructive than trusts ever were. Let us have competition, surely, but not at home. Let us fight our competitors abroad. This has been done with success with good combinations at home.
"The state has no right to dictate wages unless it dictates the labor given for them. The less the state has to do with commercial affairs the better.

"Soft and labor are at the bottom of high prices; for the prices depend directly on the price of these two things and the interest on them. Politics and the tariff have nothing to do with the high prices. We are blind to the enormous progress which America has made. When Washington sues under this trust law it hits you, by hitting your bonds and stocks.

"Germany is all activity, and is backing up good combinations. We have the greatest country, the greatest progress, but we don't appreciate it.
We will control in Europe in industries for which we have the raw material if they let us alone. We are getting together in America to control the commerce of the world. Business men must get together; they must oppose the men who would destroy industry.

"If the corporation is a federal

it have a state charter. Let the char-

KISSES HUSBAND THEN DESERTS HIM

Wife of Stationary Engineer Traced to Florence; Leaves 9-Month-Old Babe

Kissing her husband, Bert McGuire, good-by, as he started to work last Saturday morning, Mrs. Alice McGuire then packed some of her clothes in a small bundle, and, leaving their 9-month-old adopted baby alone in the house, left their home, 409 Vermijo, and has not yet returned. She told the neighbors she was going on a Christmas shopping trip.

When McGuire returned at noon, he found the baby lying on the bed, where the foster mother had left it. The child had cried itself to sleep with a doll in its arms. McGuire summoned his mother to care for the babe, and then started out to find his wife.

He traced her down the Rio Grande railroad to Fountain, and ranchers living along the way told him that they had seen a woman answering her description walking the tracks and carrying a pack on her back. From one ranch house to another, where she had been given food or shelter, he traced her to Pueblo and on to Florence, where he lost the trail.

According to the story McGuire told the Pueblo police, he suspects that his wife left Florence with a man she met there, but states that he has no positive evidence to that effect. He says that she was a good wife while she lived with him, but that he believes she became tired of the struggle with poverty.

Wants Both or None.
McGuire wants his wife either to return home and care for the baby or to take the child with her, and states that he will not urge her to return against her wishes. He asked the Pueblo authorities to arrest her on a charge of child abandonment. "A man with a 9-month-old baby and no wife is in hard luck," McGuire said.

McGuire and his wife recently adopted the baby in the county court. The child's father, named Omspott, left her recently for Oklahoma. Since McGuire's wife left, his mother is caring for the baby, but the authorities state that, unless she returns by Christmas, or unless permanent arrangements are made for the care of the child, it will be taken from McGuire and either placed in an institution or given to some family wishing to take a Christmas baby into their home.

McGuire, who is a stationary engineer, is a son of Mike McGuire, who perished in the fire that destroyed a hotel at the southwest corner of Cascade avenue and Huerfano streets, about eight years ago.

SALVATION ARMY WILL FEED 1,000 POOR PEOPLE

Two hundred baskets, sufficient to provide a Christmas dinner for 1,000 people, are to be distributed Christmas morning by the Salvation Army. Each basket will contain 15 pounds of food, including a chicken and fruit. This is the largest venture ever attempted by the local organization. In the past only 100 being given out. The campaign for Christmas funds, which is being conducted by the Army, is progressing nicely, according to Ensign Reno.

XMAS PARTY TOMORROW TO MEMBERS CHILDREN

Under the auspices of the home and education department a Christmas party will be given to the children of the members of the Woman's club tomorrow in the rooms of the club in the Odd Fellows temple. Pupils of the Steele, Garfield and Bristol schools will participate in the program. Christmas favors will be distributed and refreshments served. The plans for the party were arranged yesterday morning at a meeting of the executive board of the club at the Alta Vista hotel.

Dates grown on the deserts of California and Arizona do not ripen sufficiently because the natural heat is not great enough, but this process is now accomplished artificially by placing the fruit in an electric oven, where it remains for three days at 122 Fahrenheit.

Remarkable Development of New Courses at High School

Hundreds of patrons of the city school system visited the domestic science and arts and crafts cottages at the High school yesterday afternoon at the first public inspection, and were surprised to find the work developed to such a degree as was shown by the exhibits of the pupils. Several classes were seen at work—girls were preparing a meal in the kitchen, others were sewing in the dressmaking rooms, and still others were painting and working in the arts and crafts sections.

Among the most attractive displays were a number of Christmas gifts constructed by the pupils in the arts and crafts department. Metal articles of various description that are proving so popular as Christmas presents this year, and are bringing top-notch prices in the shops, have been constructed by the classes, and Christmas morning will adorn many Colorado Springs homes.

The domestic science and manual training departments of the school system are among the most satisfactory ventures the school board has ever attempted. The two cottages used embody the most modern ideas in this branch of training, and those who visited them yesterday were surprised at the class of work that is being done.

A Model Home.

The domestic science cottage is a model home. A dining room, furnished spick and span with the finest of furniture; a reception room, arranged in the most select fashion; and the kitchen, make up the first floor. The kitchen is fitted out with cement-topped tables, provided with all the latest utensils used in cooking. An ingenious device that turns on the gas when the faucet is opened provided for instantaneous hot water. Gas ovens.

LOG OF LINCOLN HIGHWAY TO BE EXTENDED TO THE STATE LINE NEXT SPRING

The log of the Lincoln highway from the Kansas line to Buena Vista through this city, which has been prepared by Leonard E. Curtis, president of the Lincoln Highway association, will probably be extended to the state line next spring. Mr. Curtis making plans to make the trip and log it himself. The road goes through some of the most beautiful scenery in the state, and with an accurate log, should become most popular among motorists of the east.

Mr. Curtis received a request from the Touring Club of America, a prominent organization of vacationists in eastern states, asking for data on the road, and stating that they are planning a Colorado trip for next year. The log of the Lincoln highway has been mailed them. It is now in the hands of the printers and will be issued soon. Copies will be sent to all the motor and good road publications in the country.

From the Kansas line to Colorado Springs the highway is 181.5 miles long, and to Buena Vista from Colorado Springs, 95.5 miles.

Commercial Executives Will Have Busy Session

Insurance rates, antitrust legislation, take advertising, Colorado's part in the San Francisco and San Diego fairs in 1915, and matters of state publicity, will be discussed today and tomorrow at Trinidad by the Colorado Association of Commercial Executives, of which A. W. Henderson of this city is president.

A new departure will be tried, that of uniting the interests of this state with New Mexico, and several executives from that state will be present. An automobile ride to Haton, N. M., tomorrow afternoon, and rides to the coal camps, will be features of the meeting.

News of Local Courts

Mrs. Katherine May Merchant has filed complaint in Justice Dunnington's court, charging her husband, Leonard W. Merchant, with misappropriation of her property and two minor children.

A verdict in favor of the Lowell-Meservey company, the Pennell Lumber company and S. M. Ditz, in their suit against Edward Hannon, and Alva Smith, for judgment for material furnished for a paving contract, was read in the county court yesterday. The sealed verdict was presented by a jury the night before. Judgment is given on the following claims: Lowell-Meservey company, $443.54; Pennell Lumber company, $174.38; S. M. Ditz, $226.92.

Trial of the suit of Mrs. F. H. Courte against the American Insurance company began yesterday in the district court. She claims $500 alleged due as insurance on a horse, wagon and harness destroyed in the Alamo livery fire, November 15, 1911.

HIGH SCHOOL'S TO MEET IN DEBATE NEXT MARCH

The triangular debate between Pueblo, Centennial, East Denver and the Colorado Springs High schools will be held some time in March. The local High school has already begun work, and one team has been picked. The members are: Cooper, Pelts and Kluding. The other team and the two arguments will be chosen tonight. The question for debate is: "Resolved, That the United States government should make toll discrimination in favor of American vessels engaged in coastwise trade, and using the Panama canal."

Last year and the year before the schools have tied, each winning the debate at home, but losing away from home. This year an effort will be made to get judges from out of town. Amber is divided into 100 different kinds.

spacious storeroom, make the room complete.

The girls now are working in elementary cooking. They are learning the value of various products, the best way to prepare a meal, and last, but not least, economy in the kitchen. Miss Cooper, instructor in cooking, is planning through the course to reduce the price as well as to raise the quality of living. After the first principles are thoroughly learned, the girls will be taught to plan meals, plain and fancy, and to provide for a certain number of persons on a limited sum.

On the second floor of the cottage, which, by the way, has been named the Mowry cottage, as the introduction of this system of training was brought about through the efforts of Mrs. A. L. Mowry, a member of the school board, is the sewing department. This section is equipped with sewing machines, tables, fitting forms and all the needed apparatus for the work.

Make Own Graduating Dress

The girls in this section are at work on their caps and aprons for the cooking and sewing departments, but later will take up more advanced work. Each girl of the graduating class is planning her own costume, and which she will fashion herself. The price of these is to be limited, and when the fair graduate steps from the platform with her diploma she will be clad in a garment of her own make and design. The art department plans to open a course in design, and the girls will sketch their ideas for embroidery and technique in this section. A millinery division will be added later.

The model bedroom, furnished entirely in white, is an airy sunny place. The girls are taught the proper care of bedrooms, special attention being given to the attractiveness of the surroundings. A rest room for the girls and a glass-enclosed porch, where much of the work will be done in suitable weather, are on the second floor.

The arts and crafts cottage is in charge of Miss Leaning, for several years assistant art supervisor in the schools of New York city. Mechanical drawing, decorative art, model work and design now are being given, but next semester more advanced work will be taken up. The art department is the most popular in the system.

"We are not trying to make artists—that is, the professional kind. We want to cultivate a taste for the better things in decoration, especially in the home. We want the young people who leave this school to know the best in art when they see it, and to be able to apply their ideas in whatever work they take up," said Miss Leaning.

The attraction of the art classes has had a peculiar effect upon the attendance this year. A number of students whose work has been poor in classroom work have returned to school, and not only are they showing remarkable ability from an artistic standpoint, but their work in the regular high school subjects has improved wonderfully, according to Principal R. C. Hill. A number of the students, both boys and girls, have shown some remarkable talent in art, although many had never handled a brush or crayon before taking up the course. One of the problems in design now being illustrated is that of symmetry in room decoration. The design for the window, wall paper, curtains and rug are worked out in color to provide for a room in a home.

Arts and Crafts Work New.

The arts and crafts work is an entirely new idea, and, outside of the Rocky Mountain region, Metal articles have been constructed this year, each pupil designing his or her own piece of work. Jewelry of all descriptions and hammered brass articles have been completed. Work in leather and pottery is to be undertaken after the holidays.

The manual training department has recently been equipped with the latest ideas in wood working. It is situated in the basement of the High school building, but will be removed to the new building as soon as it is completed. It is equipped with desks, each with its individual set of tools, and modern machine saws. The classes have only recently started work in this section. As soon as they become familiar with the tool and wood working, they will construct furniture.

"We do not expect to turn out all experts in these courses," said Principal Hill. "Possibly a number will find they have great talent in the courses taught, but a majority will not be professional artists, carpenters, metal workers, dressmakers or cooks. What we aim to do is to acquaint both the girls and boys thoroughly with the courses applicable to them, and to give them a broader, as well as a more practical, education. The boys will know how to handle tools when they leave High school, and the girls will know how to care for a home, how to cook and sew, which they will have learned in addition to their regular academic courses."

"Cat Stuck in Chimney; Can Santa Claus Manage to Come Down?" He Asks

"Dear Santa: I hope you are coming to see me, because I have another little brother this year. Won't you please bring him something nice?" This is one of the pitiful appeals that went through the Santa Claus clearing house at the Associated Charities yesterday, and arrangements were quickly made to handle the case through a substitute Santa.

Another youngster has been worrying about how Santa can get down the chimney at his home, because, he says, his cat got stuck there a few days ago. "Mama said you might not come at all this year, but I am going to unlock the kitchen door," the boy wrote.

There will be few children this year in Colorado Springs who do not receive a visit of some nature from Santa Claus. Numerous calls are being received daily by the Associated Charities for names of those who probably will not have so merry a Christmas as others, and about a score of letters are being received daily at the office and turned over to the organization.

TURKEYS CHEAPER NOW THAN AT THANKSGIVING

You can get a Christmas dinner cheaper than your Thanksgiving feast cost a month ago.

This is the joyful news that the dealers in "foodstuffs" have given out in Colorado Springs. Turkeys are to be cheaper than at Thanksgiving, the market having weakened in the last few days, and that food can be bought for 20 cents a pound. Fruit and vegetables are to be slightly lower.

Eggs will be lower, and it is believed that the high price on this variety will not be reached again for some time. Owing to the fact that Uncle Sam has done a little probing into the butter trust, this commodity has dropped to 40 cents a pound, and for a time the market was demoralized.

THE BURNS NEWS NOTES

In every sense of the word, "Dandy
Dick" is a dandy play.
This play has never been given in America at anything approaching the prices which are charged at The Burns.
There are only two more plays to be given by The Burns players before the present stock season is closed—our
"Her Husband's Wife" during Christmas week and the other "The Marriage of Kitty" in the week of the New Year, the final closing date of stock being January 4th.

The latter two plays are excellent American comedies of the very highest priced royalty class, and are seldom produced except in the larger towns of the east and in Los Angeles, being plays of excellent merit, calling for the most careful study.

This week we promise a revival of Pinero's comedy, "Dandy Dick," which will give us a glimpse of what was considered to be one of the most go to The Burns. A little applause (if merited) will not dishearten

the players.

The Burns players, who present intelligent plays in an intelligent manner—artists, one and all—and remember the beauty, comfort and conveniences of The Burns.

This week nightly at 8:30 p. m., with one matinee, Saturday, 2:30 p. m. The play, "Dandy Dick."

The frequent applause and continued laughter of the opening audience testified to their appreciation of the many fine points of fun contained in this play. All agree that Mr. Arnold's conception of "The Dean" is simply perfect and as fine a piece of acting as The Burns could hope to give.
There are no long waits, despite the
"The Deanery" scenes. We are proud of our closing bill; you ought not to miss seeing them if you care for wholesome fun, first-class acting, fine music, splendid scenery and comfortable environments.

NO POLITICS

THERE are persistent rumors afloat to the effect that, in the approaching municipal election, both the Republican and the Democratic machines will put forward a candidate for mayor, with the avowed intention of seizing, for partisan purposes, the appointments under the control of the mayor.

The people of Colorado Springs ought not for one instant to tolerate any such injection of national politics into the municipal election. One reason for the adoption of the Colorado Springs charter was to abolish partisan politics in municipal elections. Party designations under the charter are forbidden, and each candidate for office is required in his acceptance of nomination to "make affidavit to the fact that he has not become a candidate as the nominee or representative of or because of any promised support from any political party or any committee, or convention representing or acting for any political party."

Any man, therefore, known to be the candidate, under cover, of any political party, or who in the past has been under the thumb of the old machines, should be defeated for election by reason of those connections. The men Colorado Springs needs in office are men who owe no favors to any political machine nor to any corporate interest. The men who should be elected to office next April are men who will place the interests of the whole city above the interests of any section or group, and who have the ability and the intelligence necessary for the management of the city's business in an efficient, economical manner.

It is for the election of such men that The Gazette will fight. And it will oppose to the utmost of its ability any candidate of any political machine.

LET THEM SPEAK UP

DURING the presidential campaign Woodrow Wilson and other opponents of the Progressive party violently opposed the Progressive plank calling for a federal industrial commission to regulate the big corporations. That, it was held, would be a dangerous concentration of powers in a federal bureau, not responsible to the people; it would be the entering wedge that finally would split asunder our democracy.

The Progressives, however, wanted a commission appointed by the president, the members serving for stated terms, removable by the president, who, himself, would be both nominated and elected directly by the people, according to the Progressive demands.

If that plan is undemocratic, then what do Mr. Wilson and other critics of the Progressive party think of the present plan: regulation by the supreme court? Members of the court are appointed by the president by life; they are in no way responsible to the people. Yet, under the Sherman act, the supreme court has constituted itself the regulator of trusts. It decides which corporations shall be dissolved, and how the dissolution shall be carried out.

President Lovett of the Union Pacific, recognizing this overlordship of the supreme court, has just appealed to it to decide whether the plan proposed for the sale of his road's Southern Pacific stock may be carried into effect.

It should be noted, too, that the supreme court, the present regulator of corporations, has not yet in a single instance prescribed any regulation resulting in benefiting the public, even remotely. In the case of the Standard Oil, indeed, supreme court regulation resulted in an increase of prices to the consumers.

Possibly the Progressive party's plan for the regulation of trusts is not the best that might be proposed. But does Mr. Wilson prefer the present plan of supreme court regulation? Does he consider the supreme court democratic? Is it answerable to the people? Is it wise to increase still further the already vast powers that the courts have arrogated to themselves, powers which not a single one of the authors of the constitution even remotely contemplated bestowing upon the courts?

If the Progressive plan of trust regulation and control is unwise and undemocratic, what plan will Mr. Wilson and his party propose in its place?

THE WOMAN INDUSTRY

MISS IDA TARBELL rightly argues that the married woman whose husband is able to support her, and the unmarried girl who is not forced to work, have no moral right in industry. They compete for work with girls forced to labor. Their entrance into industry tends to force down the wages, not only that they themselves earn, but of girls who have to work or starve. And this, in turn, forces down the wages of men.

The passage of minimum hours of labor and minimum wage laws will, however, do much to lessen this evil. When employers are forced to pay a living minimum wage for all labor they will choose those laborers who are most efficient. This will result, inevitably, in replacing many women with men, and, doubtless, in forcing out of industry women who are not compelled to work. But, if more men work, and at better wages, more men will marry, and less women will have to work.

And this will be to the vast benefit of the nation. For, as Miss Tarbell says, "the whole basis of our social development is the family. A woman must give up her work or race suicide is the result." And the average woman will gladly give up her work when she has the opportunity to marry a man who can support her in average comfort.

A WISE POLICY

IF SUCH savings as are declared possible by the city electrician are to be secured, then there would seem to be no reason why the $20,000 in improvement bonds desired for the motorizing of the fire department and the installation of a modern fire alarm system should not be voted by the people. Indeed, it would seem to be a wise business policy, and one that will make for the more economical and efficient administration of the department, to vote the bonds.

The matter should be carefully discussed and investigated from every angle, and, if the figures presented by Mr. Reasoner are found correct, then the people should unanimously vote the bonds.

CERTAIN TO COME

THE fact that one of the Denver papers has made the statement is not, of course, a guarantee that the Denver & Rio Grande will immediately electrify the entire system from Pueblo to Salt Lake. Yet the fact that two divisions will at once be electrified, coupled with the further fact that the most abundant and cheapest power in the United States is in the territory through which the Grande runs, makes it certain that before many years have passed electricity will be the sole motive power. The officials of the road, furthermore, will not lose sight of the advertising value for passenger traffic that would come to it as a smokeless road, passing through the heart of the finest scenery in America.

Quite evidently, from the above headlines, the esteemed supreme court failed to make it clear just what it did decide in the coal trust case.

FISHER TO REMAIN?

The newest cabinet gossip is that Charles R. Crane of Chicago, who gave $25,000 each to La Follette and Wilson in their preliminary campaigns, is going to ask President-elect Wilson to keep Secretary Fisher at the head of the Interior Department. The scheme is said to have the support of McAdoo, Mr. Wilson's assistant campaign manager, and Murphy of New York. It is taken seriously by Democratic leaders.

This cabinet rumor, picked up in Washington by Henry J. Allen, correspondent of the Kansas City Star, is respectfully submitted to those rabid anticongressional Colorado Democrats who asserted that Wilson would reverse the Roosevelt-Pinchot policies.

A NEW MAP NECESSARY

WHILE the order just promulgated by the Union Pacific, shutting the northwestern gateway to the Burlington, the Santa Fe, the Rio Grande, the Rock Island and the Midland, will result in a loss to those roads of traffic destined from the southwest to the northwest (provided the interstate commerce commission upholds the order), it will result in a big increase in the California traffic turned over to the Rio Grande and Western Pacific. And it will greatly increase the desirability of the Colorado Midland to those roads which, by the Union Pacific's order, have just been denied a western outlet.

THE MIDDLEMAN.

To the Editor of The Gazette:
 In Wednesday's issue, MR. A. MIDDLEMAN, THOUGH NOT A TRADESMAN, gives some very interesting facts, and sets out that there are tricks in all trades but ours.

It is really funny to read some of the articles that are being written about the high cost of living nowadays. Everybody is to blame, and no one is really to blame, or at least that is the way it seems. Everyone is trying to clear his skirts of the blame. Why don't they all get together and agree that everybody, the producer, the middleman, the retailer and the consumer, is to blame?

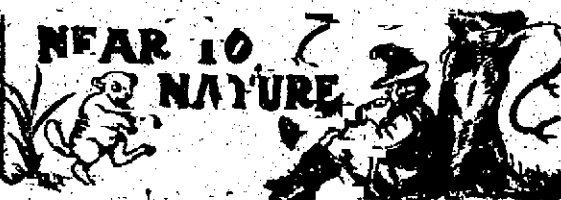

My, how I pity the middleman! He is the poor little fellow, with high rents, big salaries to pay, big delivery bill, big feed bills, and last but not least, big losses on bad accounts. Note that last statement, will you? "Big losses on bad accounts." I wonder just how much one of them will lose during the year? Not very much, I can tell you, for as soon as one of their customers fails to pay every week, off goes his head; he is put on the "black list," cash on delivery, or no goods.

Wonder what one of them would say if he lost half as much in a year as one of his customers on bad accounts? Wonder what one of them would say if he had some $20,000 in bad accounts? I'll tell you: He would be ready to go and look himself in his room and blow out his brains.

It is true that some accumulate substantial fortunes, but this is due more to their intelligence and energy than to their percentage of profits. How about a middleman in one of our nearby cities, not over 150 miles from Colorado Springs, who asserts that his individual profits for 1912, up to December 1, over and above expenses, were $30,000.00? That sounds rather big, but it is the statement that he made. He and his partner had made about $60,000.00 for the year up to the above stated date.

Again, how about a party of our fair state that has risen from an insignificant little 2nd fellow, who hadn't a dollar when he started in, to one of the largest millionaires in the state? And still they say there is no money in it. Well, if there is no money in being a middleman, how is it that there are so many in the business? It is easy to decide this question. They are making good, big profits. It is easy, the risk is small, and accounts are very, very few, and the work is light.

On Christmas Cards

By RUTH CAMERON.

What use are you making of Christmas cards? Are you letting them help you solve the problem of how to remember all those friends toward whom your heart's warm at Christmas time, without bankrupting yourself, and your day and pocketbook?

Or are you letting the Christmas card habit impose an additional burden upon you?

The other day I was standing in front of one of those shops whose windows blaze with a thousand varicolored Christmas cards, reflecting with pleasure that these offered a blessed solution of our annual struggle, when I heard one woman say to another:

"Oh, dear, I've got to spend half the afternoon in there, picking out postcards. As if it wasn't enough that I've spent every spare moment for the last six months on my Christmas work, and spent twice as much money as I can afford, now I've got to put out a lot more money and time on Christmas cards. I've got a list of 33 that I suppose I've got to send to. I really think this Christmas card business is the last straw."

Now wasn't she a foolish woman? And yet I don't doubt that there are a great many like her, who instead of substituting a word of greeting on a pretty Christmas card for gifts that they cannot afford to make, will simply send as many gifts as before, and in addition build up a long list of friends with whom they feel in duty bound to exchange Christmas cards.

Christmas gift giving has become a ridiculously abnormal growth. It needs to be reduced, not enlarged. And the pretty Christmas cards, with their appropriate and beautiful sentiments, which fill our shops offer us an opportunity to do this.

Are you going to accept it or not?

A young woman who has been out of school about five years was going over her Christmas list. "I actually haven't seen Mildred for two years," she said, naming one of her old schoolmates, "and I haven't heard from her except when she thanked me for my last year's Christmas gift or written her reply to thank her for what she sent me. It really seems absurd for us to keep on exchanging gifts at Christmas and not having anything to do with each other between times, doesn't it?"

"It certainly does," I responded with fervor.

"Why don't you send her a card?"

"I think I will," she said.

I doubtless there are some people on your Christmas list with whom your exchange of presents has become as absurd and burdensome a formality. Why don't you simply send them a card?

Those born today will be fond of show and social affairs, and unless instructed when young, will consider them of too much importance. Success will come when true values are established in their minds.

THE NOBEL PRIZE WINNER

Dr. Alexis Carrel Did Marvelous Work in Experimental Surgery

From the Journal of the American Medical Association.

The Nobel prizes were founded by Alfred Nobel, a Swedish engineer and inventor of high explosives. He directed that the income of a large sum of money should be divided each year into five prizes—in physics, chemistry, physiology or medicine, literature and in work toward the establishment of peace. His purpose was "to compensate those who in the previous year have been most useful to humanity," regardless of their nationality. It is said that the value of each prize is $38,000. The prizes have been awarded annually since 1901, when Behring received the prize in medicine for his discovery of diphtheria antitoxin. Among the recipients of this prize are Pawlow, Koch, Laveran, Flinsen, Ehrlich, Metchnikoff and Koehner.

It has not been found practicable to follow to the letter the direction of the founder to give the prizes for the most remarkable achievements of the preceding year, this direction being interpreted to mean recent achievements. Previous to this year two Americans have received prizes, A. A. Michelson of the University of Chicago, in physics, and Theodore Roosevelt for his efforts to establish peace between Japan and Russia.

This year for the first time the prize in medicine comes to this country. Alexis Carrel, who brings this honor to American medicine, was born in France in 1873 and graduated as doctor of medicine from the University of Lyons in 1890. Shortly afterward he came to this country and worked for a year or two in the physiological laboratory of the University of Chicago, where he accomplished remarkable results in the suture of blood vessels, and began his work on the transplantation of organs. Soon after the opening of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research in New York he joined its staff, and it is there that he has done the work for which he now receives the Nobel prize. This work has attracted wide notice. The results he has obtained in experimental surgery, more particularly in the surgery of blood vessels and in the transplantation of organs and of limbs, are nothing less than sensational. They show a marvelous technical skill, perseverance and scientific ingenuity at the same time as they indicate possibilities of surgery heretofore undreamed of. His recent work in the cultivation of tissues outside of the body promises new knowledge of biologic and physiologic processes.

A BUDDHIST ANNIVERSARY

From the Boston Herald.
 About the middle of the sixth century before our era a son was born to a chief of the Sakiyas in the valley of the Ganges and given the individual name of Siddharta. To hundreds of millions since that time he has been known as the Buddha, meaning the Enlightened One, by no means the first Buddha, but the one of this cycle—and the system of religion which he established is said to have now more followers than any other religion, except that of Jesus. Throughout the Buddhist world the present year is being celebrated as the twenty-five hundredth anniversary of the birth of Buddha. Buddha, the "enlightenment" in his, his renunciation of the world and his entrance upon his career as a prophet and teacher, which continued until his death at the age of 80. His followers do not honor him as a god, but as a great leader, and as the ideal of what a man may become. Beyond dispute he has exercised a wider influence than any other man that India ever produced.

Buddhism has suffered many divisions and subdivisions, and the ancient faith has been complicated by many changes and additions. In its origin it bore much the relation to the Brahmanism of India that early Christianity bore to Judaism. It was a reaction from the exclusiveness of caste, and a protest against unnecessary form and ceremony.

The intricacies of the Buddhist doctrine are obscured by an oriental mysticism when viewed by the western mind. But in its essence Buddhism deals with the rules of right conduct, rather than with God or soul. It is intensely practical, and breathes the spirit of universal charity and sympathy. Its ideal is the cleansing of the heart; its theory that every man is his own savior. The doctrine of transmigration, or at least, the link between one life and another, is an essential part of the faith, and includes the matter of reward and punishment.

A religious faith which is the expression of the Indian wisdom of many centuries, and which serves and satisfies untold millions of followers, is worthy of more respect than it is sometimes given in the Christian world.

THE HASKIN LETTER

IMMIGRATION

XI THE IMMIGRATION COMMISSION'S INVESTIGATION

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

The investigation made by the immigration commission into all phases of the subject of immigration represents the most thorough and at the same time the most expensive inquiry into the migration of mankind that ever has been made. In 1907 congress revised the immigration laws to some degree, but at the same time provided for future legislation by the creation of the immigration commission, which is directed to gather the facts upon which such new legislation should be based. The commission was composed of three senators appointed by the president of the senate, three members of the house of representatives, appointed by the speaker, and three persons appointed by the president. It was given full power to investigate, and at the same time was supplied with unlimited funds, the law creating it providing "that such sums of money as may be necessary are hereby appropriated and authorized to be paid out of the immigration fund."

The commission decided to make a first hand investigation rather than to act merely as a compiler of data already gathered. It investigated every possible phase of the question in Europe and America, going with the utmost care into the whole question of the cause and effect of immigration both at home and abroad. Over a period of three years was consumed in the inquiry, and as a result a report covering 42 volumes, or practically 30,000 octavo pages, has been published. It is such a monumental work that it is doubtful if anybody will ever read it from A to Z. However, it has a two-volume abstract and index which digest the whole report, although there are many things in the full report that are of course referred to only in the briefest way in the abstract.

Finished Report Late.

The commission did not finish its work until within a half hour of the time the law required that the report should be filed. Representative William S. Bennett of New York desired to file a minority report but declared he was prevented from so doing by the fact that the majority report was formulated too late to permit any elaboration as to his views and conclusions.

During its life the commission spent $790,000 in its investigations. There were quite a few criticisms, at the time concerning the long drawn-out character of the investigation and the financial expense incurred in conducting the thoroughness with which the work was done, much of this criticism probably was not deserved.

When it came to investigating immigration conditions in Europe, six of the nine members, accompanied by a large staff, went to Europe in May and stayed until September. They visited Spain, Austria, Hungary, Finland, Greece, Turkey and practically all other European countries. Confering with American diplomatic and consular representatives, holding conferences with European immigration authorities, and going out through the immigrant-furnishing districts, they studied carefully the causes of immigration and its effects upon the countries from whence the immigrants come.

Received Detailed Information.
 In studying the relations between the immigrant and various American industries use was made of a large corps of investigators. Data was gathered from the individual immigrant, the household of the immigrant, the employers of immigrants, and from local officials, organizations and institutions. For instance, in gathering information concerning immigrants in iron and steel industries, detailed information was received from 86,000 employees, and an intensive study was made of nearly 2,500 households, the heads of which were employed in these industries. The number of immigrants of each nationality, the number of

SUICIDE LEAVES CORNELL $100,000 TRAINING HOUSE

ITHACA, N. Y., Dec. 12.—The training house for Cornell athletes, which is included in the present plans for the new field, will be erected in the immediate future as a memorial to Henry Schoolkopf, '02, who committed suicide at Ithaca a fortnight ago. The announcement today, which makes public the gift, implies that several of the close friends of Schoolkopf, who were associated with him during his Cornell days, have contributed to the extent of $100,000. The names have been withheld.

The need for a training house for the new athletic field is most urgent, as recently the dressing rooms have been in an old barn. With the use of the field for intercollegiate contests it would have been absolutely necessary to provide more suitable quarters, but the money on hand covered only the preparation of the field and the erection of the stadium and baseball field.

The training house will be 190 feet long by 48 feet wide, and will be located between the field, which is reserved for football practice and the site for the stadium. Excavations were made incidental to the grading, and it will be possible to start construction immediately.

Henry Schoolkopf, in whose memory the building is given, committed suicide at his law office in Milwaukee on December 4. He was one of the greatest football players Cornell ever had, being fullback on the only Red and White eleven that ever defeated Pennsylvania. He also earned a place on Walter Camp's All-American eleven of that year. Later, while in the Harvard law school, he played on the Crimson football team. Practically every season since graduation he returned to assist in coaching the Cornell football team, of one of which he was in entire charge.

A rumor which has been circulating since Thanksgiving day to the effect that Cornell would be unable to play Pennsylvania in Ithaca next season owing to the fact that Alumni field will not be completed was emphatically denied today.

"It is quite true," said H. Edwin Kent, graduate manager of the athletic association, "that there is considerable doubt as to the possibility of the stadium being completed, but it is definitely settled that Cornell and Pennsylvania will meet here next year. Should it not be practicable to play the game on Alumni field it will be played on Percy field."

BASEBALL OUTLOOK IS GOOD FOR LOCAL TEAMS

Intercollegiate baseball in the hot-estate league, is getting to be a popular diversion with a number of fans, and are looking forward to the first spring practice. The baseballists themselves are feeling pretty optimistic over the outlook, and both the Terrers and Cutler are getting ready for some interesting battles.

The Terrers will be in good shape. They lost Bruce, first baseman; Johns, catcher; Evans, pitcher; and Jacobs, outfielder. The veterans who will be back are Schneider, second baseman; Captain McCrory, outfielder; Vaughn, who will play the initial sack; Davis, shortstop; Fowler, third baseman; and Tillman, outfielder. The Deal brothers, who were Brown and White players two years ago, will be back. F. Deal will probably be in the box and Vernon Deal in the outfield. The coach, Deal, has not been selected.

Cutler, which puts out good baseball teams, will be in the field strong next spring. Led by Captain Dickinson, as classy an intercollegiate boxman as there is in the state, the school has a good lot of material to call upon.

Holten, who earned his letter behind the bat last season, is expected to show considerable improvement. Gass, first base, may be back, but it is doubtful. Barnes, one of last year's players, and Gregg, an experienced player, will try for third. Jones will be out at short again. Other candidates are Greenman and Riner, first base; Spencer, catcher; Elmer, second base; Karr, third base; Jackson and Lieberknecht, one of last year's players, outfielder. In all, Captain Dickinson expects to have a score of candidates.

Jackson is a brother of William and Everett Jackson, both of whom won their letters on Cutler baseball teams, and then made good in college ball. Everett is captain of the Colorado college nine.

The question of a coach for Cutler is yet to be considered.

Brickley, Harvard Hero, Sells Papers

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Dec. 12.—Clad in a sailor suit, Charles Brickley, Harvard's star football player, ran about the college quitters yesterday morning, delivering newspapers. This stunt was a part of his initiation into the "Pike" club, the other football stars also set in the dusty street, forming two crews of five men, and imitated garmen, much to the destruction of their clothing.

Nearly one-half of the Harvard undergraduates participated in sports this fall, according to reports of the manager of the athletic department. In 12 branches of sports 988 men took part.

There are about 2,500 students in the college proper.

Football was the most popular, and its record of 197 men on the various squads speaks well for the great college game.

Rowing was the second sport in number of men engaged at 155.

The female total of 149 gives that sport qualification to rank in third place. The other sports had an unusually large following.

The Robbins and Holy Name Indian baseball teams are due for the clash tonight at the V. M. C. A. gymnasium in the indoor ball league. Barnes will do the hitting for the Holy Name, and Huber, the class boxman of the Robbins, will shoot an over for his aggregation. Huber, who had a mark for a triple fling last season, is showing up in good form, and against Barnes should make a lively hitting duel. Barnes was able to beat the Robbins last season, and he may do the same this year. The games will start at 8:15 sharp.

DEAF AND BLIND TROOP WINS FROM BOYS CLUB

The Deaf and Blind Troop team defeated the Boys Club in the Boy Scout Indoor Baseball league last night by the score of 24 to 13. The teams now stand:

YAMADA WINS AGAIN

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 12.—Koji Yamada tonight defeated Ove Morningsstar at 13.2 ball-line billiards, 400 to 207. This is the second time this week the Japanese player has defeated Morningsstar, who is the world's champion at 13.1 billiards. Morningsstar, Yamada, and George Slosson are playing for a purse of $1,000. The tournament closes Saturday night. Yamada's average tonight was 26.2-3; Morningsstar's, 14.11-14. The game went 16 innings.

REDS MAY GET BROWN

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—If waivers can be obtained on Players Glover Launder and Harry Chapman by the Cincinnati Nationals, they will be traded to Louisville for Mordred Brown, according to a rumor in sporting circles tonight. Brown has been offered a position on the jumping staff of the American league, it is said.

RIDER SAVES THREE

Pursuing a frightened and runaway horse eight squares through the streets of Spokane recently, a modest hero on a motorcycle overtook and stopped the animal and saved the lives of a baby and two women who, helpless, had been riding in the wagon to which the horse was hitched.

The motorcyclist saw the horse when it started its wild dash. He saw the danger of the women and the child. Guiding his machine with one hand he followed and, catching up, sped along neck and neck with the frightened animal, making frantic efforts to grasp the lines. His machine was steady and true and did not waver in this emergency. Finally he was able to grasp one of the lines and succeeded in bringing the horse to a stop. Then, when the women and the baby had been taken care of by others, the motorcyclist vanished without giving his name.

SHECKARD AND LEACH TO BE TRADED BY EVERS FOR ONE LONE YOUNG PITCHER

CHICAGO, Dec. 12.—Manager Evers of the Cubs expects to get a good pitcher in trade for Jimmy Sheckard and Tommy Leach before the next season opens.

With that deal added to the five for the Tinker trade, President Murphy believes the west side team will be in the hunt for the National league pennant next season despite the general belief to the contrary.

The Cubs' manager returned today from the New York meeting of the National league just perfectly content that the deal with Cincinnati would benefit the team greatly. He did not claim, however, to have the better of it, he said.

"It is an unusual trade in that it ought to benefit both teams," Tinker will be of great assistance to the Reds next year. In return for him we have in Corbin and Brubaker, with Phelps as utility man, a combination that will make it almost impossible to break up the infield by injury or accident.

"There is a disposition to figure the Cubs out of the race, but I can't see why that figuring is wrong. Evers will have a fast and aggressive team and we will be fighting it out with New York and Pittsburgh. If there is a chance to strengthen the pitching staff by trading Sheckard and Leach for a pitcher, we are willing to trade, but not unless we get their equivalent in cash value. That means a pretty good pitcher."

May Get Shortstop.

The Cubs have not yet discussed the reported deal for Hanover of St. Louis, but it would not surprise side fans if, in addition to finding a pitcher, Hanover or Mike Doan for the Cubs before the winter is over.

SEEKS ROAD DATA

Having now at its disposal road maps of 35 states, the touring bureau of the Federation of American Motorcyclists is closing negotiations with the United States Geological Survey for the use of the state maps. The maps, which will probably be selected to furnish the remaining maps and thus put at the disposal of the federation's more than 20,000 members accurate and detailed information upon which to base their 1913 riding.

The touring bureau was only recently established by the F. A. M. and it is calling upon its members, and motorcycle or other person having road information, to send it to the bureau at 11 Chambers street, New York city.

Two state maps now at the bureau's disposal are Colorado, Connecticut, Idaho, Iowa, Indiana, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Delaware, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, Montana, New Hampshire, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Utah, Vermont, West Virginia, Wisconsin, and Wyoming.

The bureau also has sectional maps of several states, including the transcontinental routes. There are also some 200 maps, mapped in various parts of the country, available.

A special effort is now being made to obtain detailed road information in California. The Automobile club of southern California has recently completed 30 new road maps, and the bureau hopes to obtain them from the club.

All road and touring information gathered by the bureau is being systematically carded and filed so that it will be readily available for the use of motorcyclists. The gathering of this information is a slow and tedious process, but by the time the 1913 touring season begins motorcyclists will for the first time have definite touring information at their command within their own organization.

SAM CRAWFORD IN BUSINESS

DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 12.—Sam Crawford, Tiger outfielder, has backed up his holdout by going into commercial business. He will leave Detroit shortly after Christmas to become the representative in New Orleans of the Peoples Weighing Machine company, a Detroit corporation in which Sam recently purchased a block of stock. He said that he did not know when he would return to Detroit, but that in any event it would not be until spring was well developed. He also stated that he had no expectation of another interview with President Navin, because he would not seek one and did not believe that Mr. Navin would come to him.

Mr. Navin knows exactly what Sam wants, and according to the only original Tiger who is as good as he ever was, there is only one thing to do, and that is to send a contract with the figures inserted that Sam demanded.

DUNDEE BEATS MORGAN

NEW YORK, Dec. 12.—Johnny Dundee, the local featherweight, who is matched to meet Johnny Kilbane, the champion, for the title, in Los Angeles, in April, outpointed Eddie Morgan of England, tonight, in a 10-round bout here. Morgan surprised his followers in the six rounds, but Dundee outlasted him.

MEET STRENUOUS TEST

Motorcycles had to make good before they were accepted for service in the police department of New Orleans. Four new machines were purchased recently and each of them was put to a severe test.

The two-wheelers were taken to the West End Speedway and subjected to a speed test against a fast motor car. The car was allowed a 300-foot start. Then it was up to a motorcycle police man to catch the car. It was done on each of the five trials. It was done on a mile, the performance being repeated each time on the return course.

Superintendent of Police Reynolds is convinced that nothing on wheels can now get an edge on him.

LAYS. Sweet is the lay of the baseball band. As he sings of the pulled into. Of the ball that bounds in the bases. And the sound of the three-base hit. Sweet is the sound of the gladsome rhyme. Of the dimes of baseball men. But sweetest of all to the writer, none is the lay of the longest run.

It takes some back-up to a runner to disqualify a champion in a foot race, the result of which links the champion ship of America, and the shortness of quality, he has held the championship five years, and nine months. Nelson, before him held it for two years and four months, having beaten Joe Gans, July 4, 1908. Asst. High Nolan managed Nelson when he won the title from Gans, and is now the manager of Willie Ritchie, the new champion. If Ritchie sticks to Nolan, and sticks to his business-like arguments, he is sure to retain his bunk roll. Nolan starts out again by the most modern method in the country is to see Ritchie and Ritchie is to see the country. Of course, the public will pay the expense of the triumphant tour. THE PIGEON SPECIAL Carries 10,000 Competing Birds to Great Derby at Jersey.

From Answers.
Four hundred tons! Such was the weight of the "Pigeon" express, 200 yards in length, which left Colorado Springs, on route to Jersey, on the occasion of the great Pigeon derby.

During the flying season—May to August—the railway companies have constantly committed to them vast consignments of pigeons for long-distance training. Twenty years ago the traffic was of trifling proportions. Old baskets, here and there, were sometimes sent by rail a ticket tag to each, on which the liberator was, all a pigeon's name, color, and sex, and the state of weather and the time the birds were flown. Now the leading railways cater for their con- tinuance by running trains of specially constructed cars.

In 1905, a cross-country pigeon spe- cial was inaugurated. Starting from Newcastle-on-Tyne, the first week of their season it ran to Selby. The fol- lowing week a further stage to Don- caster; next to Nottingham, and so on, until Southampton and, eventually, London, its destination. At times this formed a despatch train, at other times, was even run in duplicate, so taxed was the accommodation.

A preliminary training is first given to the birds before being tested by a railway journey. In every direction for miles around their home, many en- thusiasts will tramp, carrying their birds within a wicker basket, or may- hap, merely in a paper bag.

No sport, you think? Ah, but to feel the flutter of the eager wings, the warm, palpating body; to see the bright and piercing eye, and mark the upward rush, the majestic circling wheel, as the bird mounts up, up, and then the mysterious homing in- stinct coming into play, as it heads toward the horizon, homeward bound, and vanishes from view.

Then afterward the eager hope, the hesitating doubt, merged into joy when, safe and sound at home, the bird is found.

The pigeon special is accompanied by each journey by one or two con- coctees—men who feed and water the birds en route, and on arrival see to their release. The huge 42 foot vans, with all their paraphernalia, and their ex- traordinary, will each accommodate about 50 baskets.

Along each side of the vans are lat- tice shelves 24 of them fixed in pairs on hinges. A pigeon basket of standard

THE SPORTING EDITOR ON ROOSEVELT

A Sportsman's Hat Comes Off to One Who Bucks the Line as the Colonel Does, Grantland Rice Writes

Grantland Rice in the New York Mail.
It is an old story now of how Math- ews, in the last battle of the recent world series, weathered the storm after he had been finally forced to sink with the ship which he had built up in the storm of that team's misfortune.

It is a story, equally old, of how Roosevelt, a sportsman, a champion for victory, yet found something within him, shocked and stunned to see one who had made a fight of it, the fall of the blood to red blood from him to clinch the appeal which comes where a victory battles, even though one propounds his upon the other side.

This same feeling among the non- partisan, or those whose prejudices are not rabid, extends to Theodore Roose- velt, the man.

However, his political sympathies may be, it is next to impossible to look upon the amazing battle which Roose- velt is making—a battle of heart, of steel, of courage—without un- founded respect and admiration.

Whether conqueror or conquered, the greatest fighter of all political times is in the ring, and the handman, which long since and have swept any other man of the century over the ropes, and into coming to the decisive round, bloody, perhaps, and mottled with many blows, but still forcing the fight- ing, unwearied, keen-eyed and alert as he gets set for the final swing.

YOUNG GREEK ARTIST WILL LAY DOWN BRUSH AND PALETTE FOR THE SWORD; SAYS "WAR NOT ENDED"

Gus Zimeris, a young Greek artist who has been in Colorado Springs during the summer and fall, will lay down his brush and palette for the sword, and return to his native country to take up arms in the Balkan struggle. He leaves for St. Louis Sunday, and from that city, together with many other of his countrymen, will proceed to New York and take passage for Europe.

"Greece is calling upon her untrained men now," said Zimeris yesterday. "and it is apparent that so far as my own country is concerned, the war is regarded as far from ended. All of my countrymen who have had military training now are in the field, and the Greek navy, according to press dispatches, has been very active during the last two weeks."

"While I am a naturalized American citizen, my naturalization does not apply in times of war. Untrained men, those who never have served in the army, are required to present themselves to the war department in Athens by January 31. Not to do so means five years in prison, if not possible death, if we ever set foot in Greece again."

It is probable, I think, that the thousands of untrained young men who now are starting for home will be sent to the front. Their services in actual warfare would be of little value, although large numbers of them doubtless will be used in general work about the army posts and in policing cities from which trained men have been gathered, thus leaving many vacancies in the ranks of peace officers throughout the country.

A golden stream of dollars, made by the thousands of untrained young men who now are starting for home will be sent to the front. Their services in actual warfare would be of little value, although large numbers of them doubtless will be used in general work about the army posts and in policing cities from which trained men have been gathered, thus leaving many vacancies in the ranks of peace officers throughout the country.

WILSON TO SLEEP IN HOUSE WHERE HE WAS BORN

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 19.—When Woodrow Wilson wakes up on the morning of December 28, he expects to find himself in the same house in which he was born. The president-elect said today he would leave here on December 27 and reach his birthplace that night so as to sleep in the Presbyterian parsonage in which he was born. He will spend the next day, his birthday, in Staunton where a jubilee celebration has been arranged to his honor.
